

Hormé

On my return he runs before me, often looking back to see whether I had turned anywhere out of the road and as soon as he catches sight of me, showing symptoms of joy and again trotting on before me.

we two

share such a sun

as could shine in any time

Arrianos, On Hunting with Hounds